GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY EDITION

FIFTY YEARS IN PRINT . . .

This is the fiftieth edition of the INTERLACHEN, fifty years of recording the history of Florida Southern College from its earliest growth, through its stages of development as an academic institution and campus community, to its position today. We pass along with pride the legacy of the INTERLACHEN to the editors of the next fifty years.

Having had the foresight and interest to start a yearbook at Florida Southern, Dr. James D. Hurt was the editor of the first INTERLACHEN in 1924. He is a rare person whose zeal for all that life has to offer is still as apparent as it was in his days as a student here.

The 1974 INTERLACHEN staff wishes to recognize and give a special thanks to Dr. Hurt for his outstanding efforts which have made this fiftieth anniversary edition possible.

Dr. James D. Hurt

Tradition & Change

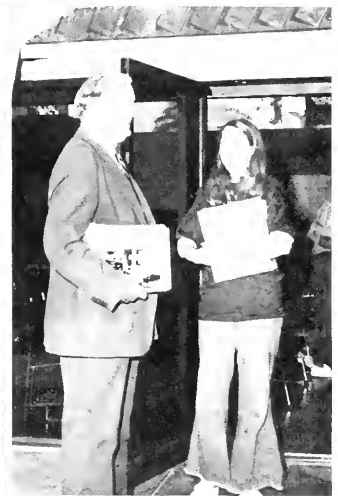

Tradition

Tradition moves with time,
and yet is not changed by it.

It is this resistance to the eroding forces
that elevates the value of tradition,
and entrenches it
in a solid, secure base.

Change

Change is the chisel of time
and the tool of evolution.
It is a whirlpool of new ideas
and challenging spirits
working together
to make something fresh.
And the times that it finds
acceptance for itself,
it is moved into
the realm of tradition.

The elements that allow tradition and change
compose our world.
They are the opposites
that give life to one another
by reflection and comparison.

Tradition and change
are harmoniously found on the campus of Florida Southern;
recognized and respected,
revered and rattled.

Our concepts are changing,
for they must change
in order for us to grow
as students and individuals.
Yet the traditional values
drawn from the College
provide us with a base
for understanding and appreciating
what has gone before
and what is to come.

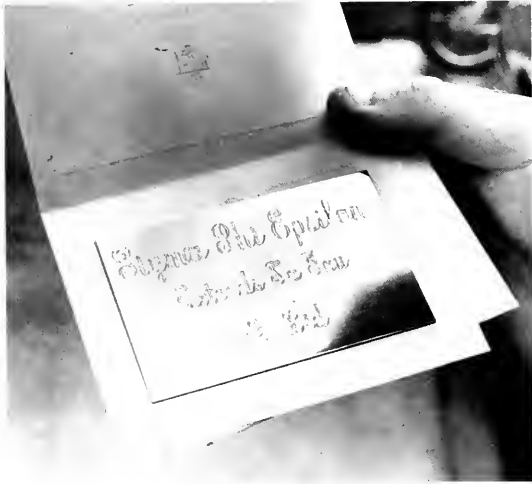

Friendships can be simple but as time continues, they become more meaningful and complex. Love is a smile and the knowledge of someone else caring.

They are together; they are brothers and sisters; Greeks have always belonged.

Faculty and administration are constantly striving to recognize newer ideas and attitudes while upholding the best that represent their own.

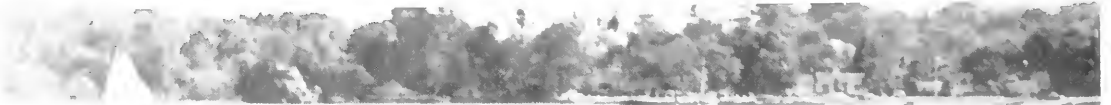

Art for art's sake is a reflection of what we are, what we have been, and what we are going to be.

Competition, exercise, fun — unbeatable values in a sports oriented world.

Construction and renovation are signs of growth for Southern's future.

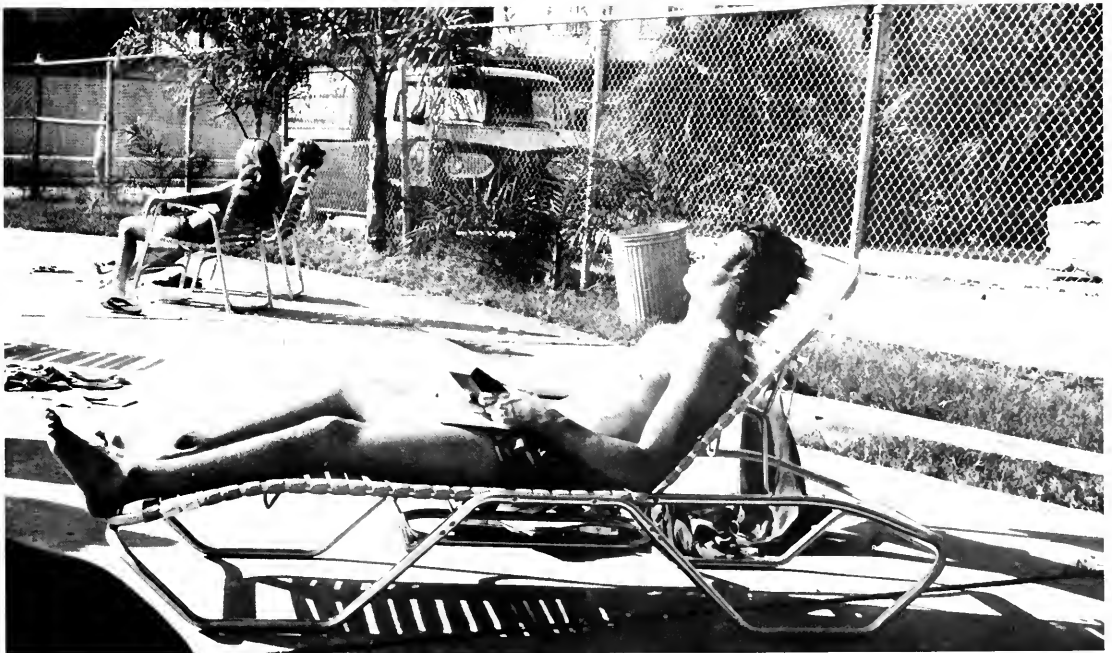

Service and involvement — key words now as always for Southern students.

Recreation, though it may change in form, is still necessary for a revival of one's mind and spirit.

Times are changing . . .

but tradition remains.

ACADEMICS

1974 INTERLACHEN DEDICATION

Robert MacDonald is a sensitive, fun-loving man, who expresses his sincerity and love for all through his music. Under his touch music is a living, vital thing. He conveys a sense of awe and admiration in each person he meets.

As a professor, he devotes much time in tutoring his students, giving them new insights into his world of music. With Robert MacDonald you do not have to be an accomplished musician, he accepts you on your own merits and helps you to achieve a little of the perfection he has.

*Music will live on forever, as will the virtuosity of Robert MacDonald in the lives of those who have known him. It is, therefore, with great pleasure that we dedicate this Fiftieth Anniversary Edition of the Interlachen to you . . . ROBERT MACDONALD.

Music echoed across . . . valleys and mountains and cities where he called home, even for but a short while. The songs he sang and played were as the minstrels, folk songs and short episodes of his wanderings, mixed with the great works of well known composers.

We used to listen to his tales in front of the old red house, when he once came our way and we drifted into his world with him. We never knew where he came from or where he was going. He made our lives a little fuller and set us to thinking.
